

How to get to bauma CHINA

The Shanghai New International Expo Centre (SNIEC) is strategically located in Pudong' key economic development zone. There is a public traffic interchange for bus and metro named Longyang Road Station, which is located on Longyang Road. It takes about 10 minutes to walk from the station to fairgrounds. There is another station named Huamu Road Station, which is about a 1-minute walk from the station to fairgrounds.

SAVE THE DATE

bauma CHINA

Date: Nov 24 - 27, 2020

By plane

The expo center is located between Pudong International Airport and Hongqiao Airport. You can take the airport bus or maglev.

→ Getting there by plane

By train

SNIEC is located at Huamu Road metro station. Details about how to get there from the different train stations in Shanghai is available here.

→ Getting there by train

By car

SNIEC is located at the intersection of two large ring roads in the center of Pudong.

→ Getting there by car

Taking public transportation

Different metro lines and busses will take you to the Shanghai New International Expo Centre.

→ Taking public transportation